

My first term experience at Redemption College, also known as Inter Chapel College

Redemption college, which is also known as Inter Chapel College (ICC), is located near the aviation area (National College of Aviation Technology) here in Zaria. It's a school with good and qualified teachers who are ready to teach and train their students to be good, obedient and respectful.

The first time I entered the premises of the school, I was surprised seeing myself as one of the students. Some changes started affecting my life in that school even before I became familiar with the school and the house where I'm living in. Suddenly, I was like a person who never sat in a classroom before and for some time, life became difficult for me. But as time went by, I adapted to the situation, and now I'm able to speak and interact with people in the house, and with the students and teachers in the school. I'm even speaking English fluently as if I'm not from the village.

In the classroom, one thing I experienced is that if a teacher is teaching, you must ask questions. If you don't do that, the teacher will definitely embarrass you in front of the class after teaching. The teachers are friendly to the students. When they are teaching, they demonstrate things in order to make sure that the students understand. The school activities include football, volleyball, handball and other activities.

Another thing I discovered about the school is the presence of a library and laboratories such as a chemistry lab, a physics lab, an agricultural science lab and a biology lab. Science students need those labs, because that is where they experiment what they have been taught in the class. This gives us more understanding on the science subjects such as chemistry, physics and biology. The library is well equipped with different categories of textbooks. Whenever we are free we go to the library and read in order to have a better understanding of all the subjects. Thanks.

DANIEL IBRAHIM, November 2012